Dear Pennsylvania Grower

This special edition of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers News has been prepared as a source book of information for you, the Pennsylvania grower. You will find various vendors of equipment, supplies, and services who deal with Pennsylvania growers. Keep this resource handy to refer to throughout the year.

If you are not a current PVGA member, we invite you to consider joining. If you are a vegetable, potato or berry grower, you should belong to the organization that represents your industry. Founded in 1926, PVGA has been serving growers like you for the past 97 years. Your membership will strengthen the association's position as the official voice of the vegetable, potato, and berry industries and will also provide numerous benefits to you.

As a member, you will receive the Pennsylvania Vegetable Grower News, which will keep you informed on what is happening in the vegetable, potato, and berry industries, as well as our weekly email update (for those who provide a valid email address), and a discounted registration fee for the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention. PVGA members also receive free subscriptions to the American Vegetable Grower and the Vegetable Growers News.

Each year the Association co-sponsors the Mid-Atlantic Fruit and Vegetable Convention in Hershey. This year's Mid-Atlantic Convention was held January 30 – February 1 and was designed to continue the tradition of providing several days of concurrent educational sessions on processing vegetables, fresh market vegetables, potatoes, small fruits, direct marketing, organic vegetables, and urban agriculture. The Mid-Atlantic Convention has become one of the premier grower meetings in the northeast and beyond. PVGA also sponsors regional grower meetings and farm market tours.

Over the past 35 years, PVGA has given over $1.35 million to research. This has been made possible from profits of the Association's food booth at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and from Convention profits. The food booth also helps to promote the vegetable and berry products you produce.

PVGA represents the interests of the vegetable, potato and berry industries on both state and federal issues. The Association contacts legislators regularly on issues that affect our growers. Special attention is given to food safety, state budget appropriations, labor, deer crop damage, irrigation (water use), high tunnels, and pesticides as they relate to horticultural growers.

If you are not currently a PVGA member, we urge you to support the association that represents your livelihood by joining today. Join your fellow growers in working together to benefit the entire grower community in providing educational events and resources, funding practical research, advocating for our industry and promoting our products. Our membership application can be found on our website at <https://www.pvga.org/joinpvगतoday/>

Growers Classified Ads

PVGA offers a classified service to vegetable, potato, and berry growers. Classified ads for used equipment or surplus supplies will be published at no cost in a Growers Classified section.

The ads will be published on the PVGA website at pvga.org/classified, included in the email update, and in the printed newsletter

Ads will be restricted to equipment or supplies specific to vegetable, potato, and berry production, not general farm equipment. Other such free classified sections are available in publications like Lancaster Farming, but this is designed to focus specifically on items of interest to our growers. Businesses that commercially sell equipment or supplies will not be able to advertise for free.

There are several ways to place an ad

- Email to pvga@pvga.org
- Mail to PVGA | 908 N 2nd St, Harrisburg, PA 17102
- Fax to 717-236-2046
